"Eleven Roundabouts for Highway 68?"

Transportation Agency for Monterey County (TAMC) representatives Rich Deal and Grant Leonard will present the current planning process for the future of Highway 68 between Salinas and Monterey. They will provide an overview of the recently completed SR 68 Scenic Highway Plan and what to expect next for Highway 68.

Rich Deal, TAMC Principal Engineer, was project manager for design and construction of the Holman Hwy 68 Roundabout Project. The LWVC Board took final positions on the measures scheduled for the June ballot. Look for our "The League Recommends" flyer (aka "Vote With the League") in early April. Here's a summary of the League's positions:

PROPOSITION 68 - California Drought, Water, Parks, Climate, Coastal Protection, and Outdoor Access for All Act (SB 5) SUPPORT
This measure would authorize California to issue general obligation bonds, with the money used to finance state and local parks, water conservation measures, water reliability to disadvantaged communities, and flood protection projects. California parks provide open space and recreation, improving health and community well-being. The water projects funded by this bond are forward thinking, and are a key part of our state response to climate change.

PROPOSITION 69 - Motor Vehicle Fees and Taxes (ACA 5) SUPPORT
If passed, this constitutional amendment would ensure that the existing transportation revenues we pay at the pump and when we register our vehicles can ONLY be used for road and transportation improvement projects. This amendment protects these transportation funds by prohibiting the state legislature from using these revenues for non-transportation purposes. ACA 5 protects existing taxes and fees we are already paying. It does not raise taxes one cent. The League supports measures to ensure adequate revenue to support needed services, including safe roads and good public transportation.

PROPOSITION 70 - Greenhouse Gas Reduction Reserve Fund (ACA 1) OPPOSE
This measure would add a requirement that two thirds of legislators approve the first appropriation of any money collected from the sale by CARB (California Air Resources Board) of Cap-and-Trade allowances after 2024. At a time that we need efficient and effective investments in climate change solutions, this requirement could lead to deadlocks, inefficiency, and poor decisions.

PROPOSITION 71 - Effective Date of Initiatives (ACA 17) SUPPORT
Currently, an initiative that is approved takes effect the day after the election unless the measure provides otherwise. Election results are not officially certified until five weeks after the election. While most election results are clear shortly after election day, that is not always the case. Prop 71 would provide that an initiative would take effect 5 days after the Secretary of State certifies the election results. This is a common-sense measure, ensuring clarity about what is – and is not – California law.

PROPOSITION 72 - Property taxation: new construction: rain water capture system SUPPORT
This measure would allow an exclusion from additional property taxes for construction or installation of rain water capture systems. These systems capture, store and use otherwise wasted rain water for landscape irrigation and similar uses, saving more conventional water for personal use. With traditional water sources becoming less dependable, this is one more way we can diversify sources of usable water.

★ DONALD P. GAVER, JR. ★
Don died February 11, after almost 92 years of life. He and his wife Fran, both longtime LWVMC Members, were married for 65 years. Don taught in the operations research department at the Naval Postgraduate School. He was named a Distinguished Professor by NPS in 1983, and continued with his academic research projects until very recently. His obituary can be found online. A summary of his professional career is described at faculty.nps.edu/dgaver/.
Major Change to Prop 13: First Step Toward 2018 Ballot

Proponents of making a dramatic change to California’s landmark Proposition 13 property tax restrictions took their first step to getting a measure on the November 2018 statewide ballot. The change would allow the state to receive more tax dollars from commercial and industrial properties by assessing them at their current market value, an effort known as “split roll” because existing tax protections on homes would remain in place.

Advocates of the measure, including the League of Women Voters of California and community organizing nonprofits California Calls and PICO Network said the change could raise billions of dollars that could be spent on public schools and community colleges. “I think the cumulative effects of the unfair tax system have gotten to the point where it’s created crippling economic impacts on the state,” said Melissa Breach, Executive Director, LWVC

Make It Fair is a constitutional amendment to reform commercial property taxes, while guaranteeing existing protections for residential property and agricultural land. Make It Fair will close the millionaire, billionaire, and big corporation tax loophole by requiring all commercial and industrial properties to be assessed at fair market value, putting California on par with how the vast majority of the country assesses these properties. California’s commercial property taxes will still be among the lowest in the country because of Proposition 13’s limits on property tax rates, which Make It Fair does not change.

Make It Fair will restore over $9 billion a year for services that all Californians rely on. Roughly half of the new revenues, $3.6 billion, will support schools and community colleges. The remainder will be shared by counties, cities and special districts to support community services, including health clinics, trauma care and emergency rooms, parks, libraries and public safety.

Make It Fair mandates full transparency and accountability for all revenue restored to California from closing the commercial property tax loophole.

Make It Fair also benefits small businesses in three ways: it exempts owner operated small businesses from reassessment until they are sold, it levels the playing field so small businesses can compete more fairly with big corporations, and it reduces their taxes by eliminating the property tax on fixtures and equipment (the business personal property tax) for all small businesses.

Make It Fair is a common-sense reform – it puts California on par with how the vast majority of states treat commercial property by assessing them at fair market value. Make It Fair only affects undervalued commercial properties, creating a level playing field for those businesses that already pay their fair share.

April 2018  League of Women Voters of Monterey County  http://lwvmryco.org  page 3
Philomene Smith has been a member of our League since 1964, following in the footsteps of her mother, the late Philomene Reed, who belonged when Phil (as she’s known to family and friends) was in high school.

Phil has now been continuously active in the League for more than half a century, working particularly on Social Policy and voting issues. “I was on the Juvenile Justice Commission and eventually became Chair,” she says. “I remember the League discovered that the county juveniles were housed in a small brick building in the middle of a field south of Salinas. The juveniles were left unsupervised at night while the staff went home. So the League did a big justice study and a member presentation and took positions on the matter. Action followed.”

Since her family moved to the Monterey Peninsula in 1952, when Phil was a sophomore in high school, she’s loved living here. “This is a great place,” she says. “I didn’t want to leave for college, so I went to MPC. Then I moved down to Los Angeles to go to UCLA. After one year, I took a semester off and got married.”

Phil’s husband Hank, a Pacific Grove native, lived parts of his life here and taught music at MPC. Hank died in 2016. The Smiths’ two daughters live in Sacramento and Wilmington, Delaware.

Phil finished her BA at San Jose State, later went to graduate school there and at Sacramento State, and earned her MA at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley.

After she and Hank moved back to this area, Phil says, “I was a resource specialist and math teacher for the Monterey Peninsula School District, teaching students who had difficulties learning.” She worked at both King Middle and Juan Cabrillo Elementary Schools in Seaside.

“I diagnosed, treated and set up individual education plans for students with learning disabilities. These students have average or above average intelligence, but aren’t doing well in school, basically achieving below their ability.” Until she retired in 2000, she worked with the school psychologist, the testing system and the students’ parents to design a plan for each student.

Among Phil’s memories of her years in the League, several stand out. “The League sent me to the national convention in Washington, D.C., in 1970,” she says. “That was during the Kent State shootings. So the League got together and demonstrated on the steps of the Capitol Building.”

She also particularly remembers working with the late Eleanor Ziel. “She was an elementary school teacher, then Principal at Thomas O. Larkin,” Phil recalls. “We would call on department heads in Monterey County and tell them we were interested in their programs and activities. We asked questions about how they managed things and then we would go back and present our findings to the League. We would develop a position and take a vote—basically the same thing we do now.” Action followed their efforts.

Outside of the League, Phil volunteers as a field worker for the Fort Ord National Monument and monitors State and Federal archeological sites.

Phil agrees with LWVMC’s goal of recruiting younger members. “I think we’re on our way to doing that,” she says. In her work at the National Monument, she sees interested CSUMB students helping with its projects and adds that the League “needs to make connections with CSUMB students in the fields of politics, voting and sociology.”
