Making Sense of Medicaid Work Requirements

In this column, KFF President and CEO Drew Altman examines the data and history around adding work requirements to Medicaid and why the administrative burdens it imposes may offset any savings — even for states that ideologically favor such an approach. Learn more here.

From the University of Wisconsin-Madison Natural Resources Institute, The UW Urban Canid Project

Have you seen a fox or coyote in your own yard? You're in the right place.

The UW Urban Canid Project (UWUCP) is studying red foxes and coyotes in Madison, WI. The project aims to investigate the way canids are living in Madison and how we can coexist with these wild neighbors. Learn more here.
