Exploring Governance

As mentioned in the board report published in this newsletter, your board is exploring the formalization of a different governance model than we have had in the past. For a number of years now, it has been challenging—to say the least—to find skilled leaders willing to lend a hand by stepping up to board roles, especially the role of president. This is not unique to the Spokane Area League. In the monthly presidents' calls I attend and at the president's breakfast at Convention in May, this has been a theme across multiple Leagues.

I have served on a number of boards over the last few decades, and I have seen similar problems. When boards experience the phenomenon of one person being President for multiple terms in a row or even multiple terms in a given decade, the organization that board governs can easily become identified with that person and their personality, presence, and preferences. When you stop seeing new faces rotating through board leadership on a schedule in alignment with that leadership's bylaws, you are often also seeing the emergence of fatigue among those individuals who do step up. Nerves fray as people desperate to sustain the organization they love become fatigued, which impacts their compassion and skill in engaging with their peers. Soon, they show up as less than their best selves. It is a sad thing to see that happen.

Several years ago, the executive team of a board for which I had served in several roles, including President, reached out to me to participate in a key decision: Should they shut the chapter down? They were gathering together a few former presidents to help them make this momentous decision. In the interim, I had become aware that another organization, serving the same constituency but organized and functioning somewhat differently, had emerged and was thriving in the first organization's geography.

I could see the board members who had reached out to me were exhausted and discouraged. They still attracted people to their monthly meeting and many of their annual events still occurred, but the numbers at these events had declined. But the board members had basically been trading places for years, and the succession model put in place by another past president had fallen apart as new people were not stepping up from the membership to proceed through the offices prior to the presidency.

I encouraged them to close the chapter down. To my recollection, all of the past presidents they had gathered did the same. The board did, indeed, shut the chapter down, spending most of what remained in the treasury on a farewell party. This was not near so sad a thing as continuing in the same way would have been.

It is far too easy, given the hierarchical leadership models we have had in place in this country since its inception, for the led to transfer much of their responsibility for leadership—or followership, as it has come to be called—to the persons they place in the offices they create to take responsibility for running the household of the organization. Over time, this results in greatly diminished relationships resulting in a significantly impaired organization. But, even in American business, for decades now, more participatory leadership models have been preferred to the benefit of all.

Participatory leadership has now come to the League. In Washington State the Clallam League has been using such a model for the last three years, and they are known for being highly productive and engaged. They also seem to be a happier community than some. Your local League board has been engaging with this League and is reaching out to see whether other leagues in the state have been using similar models to advantage. Next month, we hope to receive a presentation from a league or leagues experienced with this model at our board meeting, which you would be welcome to attend. If the Board decides to move forward, the bylaws committee would revise the bylaws, and you as members would vote on this change at the Annual Meeting in May, though the proposal to the membership should be made by the end of March.

January 20 Board Meeting Summary

- After a presentation and discussion of the State League's multi-year, statewide campaign to reimagine and reform the Washington State redistricting process, the Board approved a motion authorizing the formation of a Local Action Team to "plan and carry out tasks as part of the LWVWA Redistricting Reform Campaign." The initial team members will include Ann Murphy, Mary Lloyd and Louise Chadez. The team will make monthly reports to the LWVSA Board of Directors.
- After discussion, the board declined to co-sponsor People for Effective Government's (PEG) February program that will feature Washington State Treasurer Pellicciotti. We support the program but declined to co-sponsor as the speaker is a candidate for state-wide office, and we want to follow our policy of non-partisanship.
- There was a long discussion about proposing a change to our leadership structure at this year's Annual Meeting in May. Clallam LWV has a more simplified governance system that provides for the election of a Council. Under this structure, a president is not required and a smaller board shares responsibilities. This would require a change of our by-laws. More discussion and a possible vote will be on our February Board Agenda.
- The Board discussed adoption of a Problem-Solving Policy as required by the National LWV. Further discussion will be scheduled for the February Board meeting after clarification of several concerns with the State Board.
- Reports from the Membership, Voter Services, and Affordable Housing and Homelessness committees were accepted.
- The Board voted to approve hosting a forum for the OSPI Candidates in May for the August primary election. Elaine Harger will work on this.

AH&HS Efforts in Spokane and Olympia

January was WA Legislative month as our state representatives returned to Olympia to complete the second year of the term. They have assured their constituents they will conclude their work in record time. By the time you are reading this article LWVWA Democracy Lobby Week will have concluded. I hope you registered and participated. It is always a wonderful experience and has been virtual in recent years, so it is not necessary to brave the mountain passes to get to Olympia! I have included a link for the LWVWA's 2024 Issue Paper on affordable housing and homelessness.

2024 Issue Paper - Affordable Housing Homelessness.pdf \(lwvwa.org\)

I am also including the three bills the legislature considered during this legislative session. It is my hope they have passed. They will go a long way to helping our housing advocates create more affordable housing for our state.

HB 2234 Concerning energy assistance for low-income households. This bill would require all electric utilities to provide one or more programs and funding available for energy assistance to low-income households.

HB 2276/SB 6191 Increasing the supply of affordable and workforce housing. This bill would establish a real estate excise tax that would make the WA State tax code more progressive and create a permanent fund source for affordable housing.

SB 5975 Authorizing use of the housing trust fund and other legislative appropriations to finance social housing. This bill would establish a program with the housing trust fund for housing on land that is publicly owned in perpetuity and available to households of any income level, including low-income and moderate-income households.

Our committee has also been active here in Spokane during the month of January. As a committee we were at the Spokane Homeless Connect and did our best to encourage attendees to register to vote. We also handed out gloves, mittens, socks, scarves, and packets of personal hygiene items. The Spokane Valley Community Advocates donated these items.

Many of our committee and local league members were involved with other community activities in January helping to serve the warming shelters. We are also thrilled Village CoHousing Works dedicated their first home in January. Our committee member Melissa Pitt and her husband were a major part of that effort. In February we will have a presence at the Spokane Valley Homeless Connect and we will continue to attend Spokane County Commissioners' meetings, Spokane City Council meetings, and closely monitor the Spokane Valley City Council meetings. We hope each of those governments will continue to adopt measures that benefit our constituents in their housing needs.

Our next two AH&HS meetings will be February 4 and March 3, 5:30 to 6:30 on ZOOM. If you wish to attend, contact us at lwvsaahhs@gmail.com for the link.

Keep Up with the Washington State Legislative Session 2024

Why does it matter that the state legislature is in session?

State government deals with education, infrastructure, environmental regulations, health care, and of course the state budget and taxes funding those and many other state programs and services. What happens in Olympia probably affects your everyday life more than you think. Signing up or our Legislative Newsletter provides an easy way to advocate for LWV priority bills.

February General Membership Meeting Voter registration training/refresher and LWV 104th birthday celebration.

Your Voter Services Committee is planning the February 13 general membership meeting.

Washington state laws regarding voter registration have changed in the past couple years, so this is an excellent opportunity for LWVSA members to learn about the changes and details of how to register people to vote.

Come ready to practice registering people to vote!

"LWV is My Valentine!" The League was founded on Valentine's Day in 1920, and to celebrate we'll enjoy refreshments and engage in a special, crafty and colorful, DIY activity that will carry the spirit of our League ancestors to all LWVSA members.

Curious? Good! Come to the meeting and have some fun! And, if you like, bring a Valentine treat to share. Everything else supplied.

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan, grassroots organization working to protect and expand voting rights and ensure everyone is represented in our democracy. We empower voters and defend democracy through advocacy, education, and litigation, at the local, state, and national levels.

Pop Quiz!

LWVSA members who attended the new members meeting on January 13 will know all the answers.

1. What percentage of the membership of the LWV Washington has joined in the last 5 years?
2. The League never participates in public demonstrations or marches.
3. The League has members who are well educated through experience and/or classrooms.
4. Credibility is what League members value most about the League of Women Voters.
5. Men are members of the League of Women Voters.
6. League members have family relationships that include diverse qualities and conditions.
7. Many members join the League to be active in education, legislation, elections, and more. Throughout their time with the League they engage in many different activities.
8. The League does not advocate or oppose any legislation that the members have not studied and come to consensus on a position about the legislation.
9. Only the President of the local, state, or national League speaks for the League at their level.
10. The local League can advocate for national legislative action.

Voter Services Report

by Elaine Harger

At newsletter deadline time, there had been only one voter services event in January. Volunteers did voter registration at the Thomas Foley federal courthouse on January 10th as part of the monthly naturalization ceremony.

Big news! Susan Hales has gathered up a team to work on ballot translations for the general election. Susan will chair and members include Becky Dickerhoof, Judy Silverstein, Gina Calza-Raebel, Lin McGinn, and Melkam Tesfaye (as volunteer assistant). Deep gratitude to all these for stepping up to help with a project that will certainly empower voters in the Spokane area.

On the 17th, I attended (virtually) the LWVWA voter services monthly meeting. We heard about the Kittitas County League's work at Central Washington University, where the Associated Student organization, partnering with the League and the Ellensburg Public Library, is organizing an event to inform CWU students and community members about the upcoming presidential primary in Washington.

We also learned about "student engagement hubs" established by the Washington legislature in 2020, RCW 29A.40.180:

(1) Each state university, regional university, and The Evergreen State College as defined in RCW 28B.10.016 and each higher education campus as defined in RCW 28B.45.012 shall open a nonpartisan student engagement hub on its campus. The student engagement hub may be open during business hours beginning eight days before, and ending at 8:00 p.m. on the day of the general election. All student engagement hubs must allow students to download their exact ballot from an online portal. Upon request of the student government organization to the administration and the county auditor, the student engagement hub at a state university, regional university, or The Evergreen State College as defined in RCW 28B.10.016 must allow voters to register in person pursuant to RCW 29A.08.140(1)(b) and provide voter registration materials and ballots.

(2) Each institution shall contract with the county auditor for the operation of a student engagement hub under this section.

(3) Student engagement hubs are not voting centers as outlined in RCW 29A.40.160 and must be operated in a manner that avoids partisan influence or electioneering.

The Kittitas League has assisted at CWU's hubs for the last few years, and (if my notes are correct) assisted 900 students to vote a few years ago.

Another voter services highlight for January is that the LWVSA has been invited by the state League to host a forum in May for candidates running in the primary election for the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The LWVSA board voted on Jan. 19th to accept this invitation. More info on this event to come. For now, please consider volunteering for the event as details emerge.

Still to come on the 25th is the Homeless Connect event at the Spokane Convention Center, where members of the Housing and Homeless Solutions Committee will register people to vote. On the 27th LWVSA member Becky Dickerhoof will speak on a voting rights panel at the Eastern Legislative Conference organized by Fig Tree, and the League will have a voter registration table there.

Recently, I received an email from the organization Living Room Conversations about one of their projects "Trust in Elections." It seems to me to be something The Voter readers might be interested in. Here's the URL for their website: [https://livingroomconversations.org/trust-in-elections-2/?utm\_source=Living+Room+Conversations+Community&utm\_campaign=57543a8caa-EMAIL\_CAM-PAIGN\_2024\_01\_14\_07\_36&utm\_medium=email&utm\_term=0\_-57543a8caa-\[LIST\_EMAIL\_ID\]&mc\_cid=57543a8caa&mc\_eid=UNIQID](https://livingroomconversations.org/trust-in-elections-2/?utm_source=Living+Room+Conversations+Community&utm_campaign=57543a8caa-EMAIL_CAM-PAIGN_2024_01_14_07_36&utm_medium=email&utm_term=0_-57543a8caa-[LIST_EMAIL_ID]&mc_cid=57543a8caa&mc_eid=UNIQID)

COMING UP IN FEBRUARY

Last, but certainly not least, Voter Services is planning the February 13 general membership meeting. We will have a voter registration training/refresher session, followed by "LWV is My Valentine!" The League was founded on Valentine's Day in 1920, and we will have a special celebration for the League's founding day.

The February 13 meeting will be in-person at the Liberty Park Library, 402 S. Pittsburg Street, Spokane, from 5:30-7:00pm.

104th LWV Birthday Celebration Trivia

- Founded by Carrie Chapman Catt in 1920, Valentine's Day, February 14, 1920, is the League's birthday.
- Purple and lavender are 'League colors' they were a subtle sign to others that the wearer was a supporter of women's suffrage.
- England called them suffragettes, the US called them suffragists, thinking the former sounded dismissive.
- In the chaos of the lobbying of the last state to ratify the 19th Amendment, the men who wore yellow lapel roses identified as supporters of suffrage, the red rose wearers did not support the 19th amendment.

LWVSA Environment Committee

Community Conversations on the Climate Crisis

May 4 to July 4, 2024

HELP NEEDED

The LWVSA Environmental Issues Committee members and other interested League members are planning the facilitation and format of community conversations in partnership with Spokane County Library District. The following information will appear in the spring issue of SCLD's publication Engage.

Here's what we need you to do

Read description of Expo'74 event below. What questions and/or techniques would you ask if facilitating a community conversation?

Provide between 1 and 6 questions and/or facilitation ideas.

- What would you recommend in terms of resources for a handout?
- Would you be willing to consider volunteering for one of the community conversations? Volunteer needs are for co-facilitators, welcoming, and League info table monitors.

If you are interested in participating in our planning efforts, please contact Elaine Harger, eharger@drizzle.com, 509-893-8862 (landline), 425-221-8294 (texts).

EVENT DESCRIPTION:

Expo'74 was the first World's Fair to focus on environmental issues. In 1974, the greenhouse effect, industrial pollution of water, soil and air, nuclear waste, deforestation, and loss of wild habitats were of great concern globally. Fifty years later, the planet is experiencing the effects of five decades of only minor action to solve these problems — wildfires, floods, sea level rise, hurricanes and tornadoes, species extinction, social tensions and dislocation. The Spokane County Library District and the League of Women Voters Spokane Area, invite the public to engage in community conversations during Expo'74 50th Anniversary to talk about how individuals, neighborhoods, and municipalities can take action to prepare for the impacts of the climate crisis. Come to these events to share your concerns, ask questions, and exchange ideas with others. For those who wish to learn more about the climate crisis, Spokane County Library District librarians and League of Women Voters Spokane Area recommend any or all of the following books.
