Mailing Address: Biden for President PO Box 58174 Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19102

Q: What actions would you take to balance public health and economic recovery in the US, both in light of COVID-19 and for the long term?

Joe Biden: It’s a false choice to think we have to choose between our public health and economy; they’re linked. On Day One, I’ll implement the COVID strategy I’ve laid out since March — surge testing and protective gear; distributing vaccines safely and free of politics; helping schools and small businesses cover costs; and getting state and local governments resources to keep educators, cops, and firefighters on the job. I’ll respect science and tell the truth, period. And I’ll build our economy back better, creating millions of good-paying jobs. I’ll revitalize manufacturing, build a clean energy economy, and boost caregiving — easing the squeeze on working families, providing paid leave, and getting caregivers the respect and pay they deserve.

Q: What is the most important issue facing our country and how do you plan to address it during your first 100 days in office?

Joe Biden: Pandemic. Recession. Racial injustice. Climate change. We’re facing historic crises; we have to tackle them all at once. Character and experience count. I’ll listen to scientists, tell the truth, and make sure we’re never so unprepared for a pandemic again. I’ll expand the Affordable Care Act, lowering costs and making health care a right for all. I’ll build our economy back better, and make racial equity central to recovery. In these crises, we have an enormous opportunity, if we come together. As President, I’ll draw on the best of us, not the worst. I’ll work as hard for those who don’t support me as for those who do. That’s a president’s job: to represent us all. To take responsibility. To protect the nation. To unite and to heal.
How will you address racial injustice in our country on day one of your administration?

Joe Biden: America is at an inflection point. It’s past time to end our inequities and deal with the denial of our nation’s promise to too many for too long. I’ll fight to end the health inequities that COVID-19 and historic racism have created every child the same strong start in life by offering universal Pre-K, tripling funding for Title I schools, and making public college debt-free for most families. I’ll make racial equity central to our recovery, closing the racial wealth and income gaps, boosting home ownership, and investing in communities and entrepreneurs of color – building a stronger, more inclusive middle class for the future. And, I’ll work for real police reform and invest in shifting our criminal justice focus from incarceration to prevention.

What aspects of our current immigration policy will your administration address first?

Joe Biden: My immigration policy is built around keeping families together. It’s past time to reform our broken system, restoring family unification and diversity as its core pillars. As President, I’ll reverse Trump’s assault on our values on Day One, ending his cruel border policies that rip children from their mothers’ arms. I’ll act immediately to protect Dreamers and their families, and invest real political capital in finally delivering legislative immigration reform, with a roadmap to citizenship for the nearly 11 million undocumented people who already do so much to make our communities strong. We have to enforce our laws, but in a way that’s humane, respects due process, honors our values, and sees the big picture.

What will you do over the long term to ensure access to quality healthcare for all?

Joe Biden: This pandemic makes clear: All Americans need access to quality, affordable health insurance. That’s why I’ll protect and build on the Affordable Care Act. I helped to secure the final key votes to pass that landmark law, protecting 100 million Americans who can no longer be turned away or denied coverage for pre-existing conditions, and bringing coverage to 20 million more. As President, I’ll build on that progress with a public option and lower health care and prescription drug costs. I’ll make all COVID-19 testing, treatment, and vaccines free; and give every child the same strong start in life by offering universal Pre-K, tripling funding for Title I schools, and making public college debt-free for most families. I’ll make racial equity central to our recovery, closing the racial wealth and income gaps, boosting home ownership, and investing in communities and entrepreneurs of color – building a stronger, more inclusive middle class for the future. And, I’ll work for real police reform and invest in shifting our criminal justice focus from incarceration to prevention.

What aspects of our current immigration policy will your administration address first?

Donald J. Trump: As President of the United States, I will work to ensure the highest ethical standards across law enforcement and our entire government. We must stand up for consumers against predatory lending companies, scammers, and others trying to take advantage of Pennsylvanians. That includes ensuring Pennsylvanians have access to affordable, quality health care. We must keep our communities safe, by collaborating effectively across law enforcement, reforming our criminal justice system to ensure equal enforcement, taking crime guns off our streets, and much more.

Q: The Office of the Pennsylvania Attorney General is responsible for law enforcement and the equal protection of law for all citizens. What do you see as the primary challenges to achieving equality under the law??

Donald J. Trump: Throughout my career in public service, I’ve always been someone who has stood up to defend all Pennsylvanians—no matter what they look like, where they come from, who they love, or who they pray or don’t pray to. I have consistently defended the rule of law and Pennsylvanians’ rights against anyone, from high-level drug dealers, to predatory lending companies, to greedy pharmaceutical companies, to the federal government, and more. The laws of our Commonwealth and our country must be applied equally, and that can only be done by enforcing the law without fear or favor. We must also ensure the highest ethical standards across law enforcement and our entire government.

Q: What role will your administration play in reforming systemic problems and supporting restorative justice in our criminal justice system??

Donald J. Trump: I’ve taken steps to reduce PA’s prison population and recidivism rate, and to instead focus on data-driven programs to eliminate bias in the system. I’ve also worked with Governor Wolf to form PA’s first statewide reentry council to reduce barriers for those returning from prison. And I’ve created a statewide Conviction Integrity Unit to review past convictions. This year, I brought together law enforcement, union leaders, and activists from across the Commonwealth to pass a bill that ends the practice of law enforcement agencies unknowingly hiring officers with documented patterns of excessive use of force or other misconduct. I’m committed to finding fair methods that will reduce incarceration rates and discrimination.

Q: What are your top three priorities to address as Attorney General?

Heather Heidelbaugh: We must continue battling the heroin and opioid crisis that is taking 12 Pennsylvanians’ lives each day. Our efforts must focus on a multi-pronged approach of prosecuting high-level drug dealers, holding pharmaceutical companies accountable and making treatment more accessible and affordable. We must stand up for consumers against predatory lending companies, scammers, and others trying to take advantage of Pennsylvanians. That includes ensuring Pennsylvanians have access to affordable, quality health care. We must keep our communities safe, by collaborating effectively across law enforcement, reforming our criminal justice system to ensure equal enforcement, taking crime guns off our streets, and much more.

Questions:
Q: What are your top three priorities to address as Attorney General?
A: 1. Keep PA Safe-The Commonwealth Attorneys Act states one of the main roles of the AG is criminal prosecutions. This would be my top priority. The AG works with local DAs and law enforcement to keep PA residents safe, including a strong commitment to addressing drug trafficking and the opioid crisis. 2. Put People Before Politics-Restore the AG’s Office to following mandates set forth in the Commonwealth Attorneys Act and perform lawfrying for the people of PA versus using the office for political gain. 3. Protect the Mentally Ill-Establish a Blue Ribbon Panel of experts from PA to examine the treatment of the mentally ill, address the current state of mental illness, and more. The panel would issue a Report suggesting structural changes.

Q: The Office of the Pennsylvania Attorney General is responsible for law enforcement and the equal protection of law for all citizens. What do you see as the primary challenges to achieving equality under the law?
A: Keeping PA safe has to be the top priority of the AG. The AG’s statutory role is the prosecutor of crime. The AG has to prioritize resources, so scarce resources are used for the highest priority tasks of the office. Crime enforcement, in conjunction with the DAs is the first priority. Crime operates across County and jurisdictional lines, so coordination with multiple County DAs is critical. Investigations that may take years and cost millions can’t be wasted by prosecutors failing to follow criminal procedure. The AG must take an active role in the management of the office. The purpose of prosecuting crime is to ensure safety, not create headlines. With that purpose in mind, equal protection for all should be achieved.

Q: What role will your administration play in reforming systemic problems and supporting restorative justice in our criminal justice system?
A: As the County Councilperson At Large on Allegheny County Council, I was critical of the operation of the county jail. The Allegheny County jail had more suicides than any other jail in the country. I determined that one county employee had repeatedly failed to perform the proper release of a large number of people from the jail, and she was terminated. Each day someone is in jail, it cost taxpayers, they become a suicide risk and lose their liberty unnecessarily. As AG, I would continue to advocate for government institutions to properly run jails and prisons. Jails and/or prisons must be properly run so we have the space to jail criminals, not those who don’t belong there.

Questions:
Q: What are your top three priorities to address as Attorney General?
A: 1. Save the taxpayers’ money. Reduce prison population by 50%, by not seeking cash bail, not bringing charges merely for drug possession or consensual relations between adults. Only those who are actually a threat to the community should be incarcerated. Others should be diverted from the prison system to programs designed to help them pay their debt to society and reintegrate into the community. Prosecutorial resources can then be directed to addressing violent crime, combating corruption and consumer protection. 2. Reformation of the system of policing. Citizen Review Boards are only a start. Community and police must establish standards of conduct and need special prosecutors for police misconduct. 3. Promote Restorative Justice.

Q: The Office of the Pennsylvania Attorney General is responsible for law enforcement and the equal protection of law for all citizens. What do you see as the primary challenges to achieving equality under the law?
A: The primary responsibility of the Attorney General is public safety, with the goal of attaining peace characterized by a community that is inclusive and harmonious. Conflict must be resolved in a way that restores peaceful social life. This can only be accomplished through respect of all members. The primary challenge now is lack of faith in the community in the police and of the police in the community. Our system of justice is based on the principle that it is better to let a guilty person go free than to convict an innocent one. I would rather take a bullet than shoot an innocent person. Let us develop a system of policing based on that principle. We must refrain from attacking, arresting or shooting anyone not actually a threat.

Q: What role will your administration play in reforming systemic problems and supporting restorative justice in our criminal justice system?
A: My administration will support restorative justice, which is another way of viewing crime and how to respond to it. Restorative justice includes all parties in a collaborative process of apology, changed behavior, repair of the harm, and reintegration of parties with their communities. This process has a better record of reforming offenders and healing victims than simply punishment which has had a low success rate. It also diverts offenders from incarceration to alternatives like community service, but as agreed by offenders and victims, who are more likely to view it as a sincere apology if voluntarily undertaken than sentenced. I support the statements of former Austin District Attorney Ronnie Earl in this video: tinyurl.com/RonEarl.

Questions:
Q: What are your top three priorities in office?
A: 1) We are in a COVID-19 world. Both the federal and state governments are distributing grants and other COVID-19 funding to individuals, small business, and large businesses. My first priority as Auditor General is to make sure those funds were allocated to those individuals and businesses for whom they were intended.
2) Work to have a more transparent government. For example, I will work to end political loopholes like the “honor system” that allows state agencies to keep high-dollar, taxpayer funded contracts hidden from the public.
3) Work to make sure funds were properly allocated. 2. Covid-19 has significantly impacted our state. Areas like education, healthcare, small business and unemployment have all been affected. It will be very important to audit the performance of related programs as well as ensuring that funds were properly allocated. 3. Combat government waste and inefficiency. I will work to ensure effective use of taxpayer dollars.

Questions:
Q: What are your top three priorities in office?
A: 1) Transparency: How many times have you heard a fellow Pennsylvanian joke about the “temporary” Johnsontown flood tax that we have been paying since 1936? How about the tax, or turnpike tolls that are consistently repurposed for other projects? Taxpayers deserve to know where their money is going.

Questions:
Q: What distinguishes you from other candidates who are seeking to be Pennsylvania’s next Auditor General?
A: As a Libertarian, I am independent of the politicians who are making financial decisions for the Commonwealth. As an auditor, this allows me to be a truly non-partisan fiscal watch dog. Professionally, I have spent almost twenty years in healthcare finance. I have extensive experience in looking for irregularities in financials and ensuring data integrity. I was elected to the Upper Providence Board of Auditors in 2017 and have been serving as the Chair of the Board for the past two years.

Questions:
Q: What are your top three priorities in office?
A: 1) There is a desperate need for a third party. I welcome the values that the Green Party Pillars describe - Grassroots Democracy, Ecological Wisdom, Social Justice, and Peace. 2) Unfair laws and practices like voter suppression, purging voters off lists, and long voting lines must end. 3) Quality Education & Climate Change - Growing up, I remember the fog being so thick, you could not see down the street. Upon my return, no one can recall the last time they have seen fog hit the streets of Philly. We have lost a very important regular occurring weather pattern without anyone noticing!

Q: What distinguishes you from other candidates who are running to be Pennsylvania's next Auditor General?
A: I was not groomed to be a politician, however having been blessed with a natural curiosity, and being a highly trained profession analytical chemist, I am well-equipped for the task of problem solving. The scientific approach enables me to view problems from a fresh point of view.

Questions:
Q: What is the most important duty of the State Treasurer? If elected, how would you carry out that duty?
A: From Day One, my most important duty has been restoring integrity to an office too often marred by scandal: 3 of the last 5 elected Treasurers have been indicted. Upon taking office, I immediately banned the use of middlemen to win investment contracts and introduced Treasurer's first conflict-of-interest policy and Chief Integrity Officer. My top priority now is building solutions to help Pennsylvanians recover from Covid-19 on solid financial ground. We created the Keystone Scholars program, which provides at college and career savings accounts to every child born or adopted in Pennsylvania, and we fight to hold Wall Street accountable to taxpayers, as trustees for our public pension systems and through legal action when necessary.

Q: What distinguishes you from your opponent in the general election?
A: I have spent my career in the public sector, fighting for the responsible use of taxpayer funds in our civic institutions. Before serving as Treasurer, I was the U.S. Ambassador for UN Management and Reform. Prior to that, I was the founding President and CEO of the National Constitution Center and Philadelphia's Deputy Mayor for Policy and Planning. What these roles have in common is a dedication to the highest and best use of funds, contributed by the masses, toward a common goal. They each require the careful stewardship of someone else's contribution: to reinforce effective international cooperation; to build a beautiful civic resource for our nation; or to resolve a $1.25 billion deficit and revitalize a vibrant major American city.

Questions:
Q: What is the most important duty of the State Treasurer? If elected, how would you carry out that duty?
A: The State Treasurer must monitor the revenue inflows and disbursement outflows of the Commonwealth, as well as managing the invested funds of the State of Pennsylvania. My years of background as a Certified Public Accountant lend themselves well towards those responsibilities.

Managing and working with people within the Treasurer’s Office is also an important requirement. Having worked with hundreds of clients, over the years, as well as working with my clients’ employees, I will take that operating experience with me to the Office of the Treasurer to make that Office a great place to work as well as operating the Office at the lowest cost and most efficient way possible.

Q: What distinguishes you from your opponent in the general election?
A: I am a Libertarian. My principles are very liberty-minded and I abhor wasteful and unnecessary government. I will be bringing a fresh attitude that advocates for the Taxpayers of Pennsylvania. The position of Treasurer is an administrative one; not one that enacts policy, as does the State Legislature and the Governor. To that end, I will be working to influence the Governor and the Legislature to minimize taxes, and cut the costs of government wherever possible. The budget of the Commonwealth has exploded over the past 20 years and the Republicans and Democrats, who have been in power for more than 150 years, are doing little to curb the runaway growth of state government and advocate for the taxpayers of Pennsylvania.

Q: What distinguishes you from your opponent in the general election?
A: I intend to use my office to push forward an agenda that is future focused and serves the people of Pennsylvania. Every monetary decision I make will consider how we can 1) prepare the State for a Green
New Deal by investing in sustainable jobs and eliminating dirty industry handouts, 2) restructure our outdated tax code by closing corporate tax evasion loopholes and providing for equitable taxation, and 3) reform the criminal justice system by ending cash bail and reducing incarceration and recidivism.

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
PENNSYLVANIA HOUSE DISTRICT 17

Description:
REPRESENTATIVE IN THE U.S. CONGRESS
Description of office: Congress, the legislative branch of the federal government, is composed of two houses. The upper house is the Senate. The lower house is the House of Representatives. A majority vote in both houses is necessary to pass a law. All bills must pass the House and Senate and be signed by the President. The U.S. Constitution requires that the House of Representatives be composed of elected representatives (also called Congressmen or Congresswomen) from each State. There are 435 members of the House of Representatives. The number of Representatives from each state is proportioned according to its population, with 18 Representatives from Pennsylvania. A U.S. Representative must be at least 25 years old, have been a citizen of the United States for the past seven years, and be an inhabitant of the state they represent at the time of the election. The House of Representatives is responsible for creating the budget and initiating bills to collect taxes and other money. The House is also responsible for impeaching federal officials (the President, Vice President, and Cabinet officials) if there is a tie in the Electoral College.

Questions:
Q: What would be your top priorities as a U.S. Representative over the next two years?
A: My top priorities over the next two years include helping get our country through this pandemic and making sure people have the resources, support and health care they need to survive; to help recover from the pandemic and put people back to work, including by making major investments in infrastructure; to reduce prescription drug prices by ensuring the Senate passes our bill to let Medicare negotiate for lower prices; to protect and improve the Affordable Care Act so that all Americans can afford high quality health care; and to protect and expand Social Security and Medicare.

Q: The landmark Shelby v. Holder decision overturned protections in the Voting Rights Act of 1965 that required certain states and local governments to obtain federal clearance before implementing voting laws or practices. Since then, the U.S. has experienced a surge of legislation that makes it more difficult for many people to vote. What voting reforms do you see as essential to making U.S. elections accessible and secure?
A: I was proud to co-sponsor and vote for the Voting Rights Advancement Act (now called the John R Lewis Voting Rights Act of 2020), which we passed in the House in December 2019. This bill would reverse the Shelby v. Holder decision, restoring and expanding protections against discriminatory voting laws. Protecting the right to vote always has to be a priority. I will keep working to get this bill signed into law, and to support efforts to ensure that all eligible Americans can exercise their right to vote.

Q: How would you go about finding consensus and reducing gridlock in Washington, D.C.?
A: This has been a focus for me since the day I came to Congress. I’ve made an effort to build relationships with colleagues across the aisle and try to find common ground, and I’ve found that there is a lot of common ground if you’re willing to work for it. That’s how I’ve gotten several bills signed into law by President Trump to help veterans and combat the heroin epidemic. That will continue to be my approach, because I believe the most important thing our constituents expect from us is that we find ways to bridge the partisan divide, break through the gridlock, and get things done for the people we serve.

Questions:
Q: How would you go about finding consensus and reducing girdlock in Washington, D.C.?
A: In Congress, I have shown that I can work with Members of Congress whom I disagree with on a number of issues. In the current Congress, I was able to pass four pieces of legislation despite the partisan divide in Washington. Two bills were passed on a bipartisan basis and were signed into law, including legislation that will stop spam phone calls to all our cell phones. I am able to build consensus and pass legislation because I look for common ground with other Members, even if we disagree on other issues. That was my approach when I first went to Congress and that will continue to be my approach should I be fortunate enough to return for another term.

Questions:
Q: What would be your top priorities as a U.S. Representative over the next two years?
A: My top priority is ensuring that we, as a nation and as a region, get through the current crisis due to COVID-19. I am working to help workers who lost their jobs, small businesses that are struggling, and working to expand access to unemployment compensation. I am focused on other issues like fighting climate change, making prescriptions more affordable, defending Social Security, and protecting and improving Obamacare. I support common-sense gun safety measures like an assault weapons ban and universal background checks.

Q: The landmark Shelby v. Holder decision overturned protections in the Voting Rights Act of 1965 that required certain states and local governments to obtain federal clearance before implementing voting laws or practices. Since then, the U.S. has experienced a surge of legislation that makes it more difficult for many people to vote. What voting reforms do you see as essential to making U.S. elections accessible and secure?
A: I strongly opposed the Supreme Court’s Shelby v. Holder decision. In response, I joined my colleagues in the House to pass the For The People Act (H.R. 1) last year. This legislation included expanded early voting and automatic voter registration. In addition to making these critical changes to make it easier for people to vote, the legislation also tackled dark money spending by outside groups and ending gerrymandering of legislative and Congressional Districts. While this legislation is stalled by Mitch McConnell in the Senate, I will continue to fight to remove obstacles that make it harder for people to exercise their right to vote and to remove big money from political campaigns.

Questions:
Q: What would be your top priorities as a U.S. Representative over the next two years?
A: My top priorities start with a matter of conduct rather than a matter of policy; I believe that local reps must be expected to be in touch with the citizenry they represent. Officials who win elections and proceed to hide from their districts while enjoying an elitist lifestyle should be ashamed of their actions. Members of the US House are meant to be representative of their district, not separate from or above their district. 2020 sees far too many career politicians who know nothing about what the average working class American experiences. My pledge for my first year representing PA18 is to either write or support policy pushing for congressional term limits.

Q: The landmark Shelby v. Holder decision overturned protections in the Voting Rights Act of 1965 that required certain states and local governments to obtain federal preclearance before implementing voting laws or practices. Since then, the U.S. has experienced a surge of legislation that makes it more difficult for many people to vote. What voting reforms do you see as essential to making U.S. elections accessible and secure?
A: I believe that voting for future American leaders is a sacred right which has been preserved by men and women sacrificing life, time, and effort. Because of the gravity of the situation, a government issued ID must be presented prior to casting a vote. Mail-in/absentee ballots which can be properly screened and legally recorded are also acceptable for the elderly, the disabled, military members on orders, and the like.

Q: How would you go about finding consensus and reducing gridlock in Washington, D.C.?
A: I believe that if each representative were involved in a well-established state of communication with their citizenry AND bound by congressional term limits, we would see less political pandering, less safe politics in favor of re-election, and more passionate changes in US leadership. We need to stop viewing politicians as D’s and R’s and start knowing the individual statesman or stateswoman. Party lines tend to serve as a big box to throw names into - this leads to a great deal of gridlock.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: I was proud to support Governor Wolf’s recent initiative to implement no excuse mail-in-ballot voting, as well as extended voter registration and mail-in / absentee return deadlines. While this was a very important move to expand ballot access, there is still more work we can do to further ensure all citizens have equal access to the ballot box. I support same-day voter registration and mailing every voter a mail-in ballot for the 2020 primary. During these unprecedented times, all citizens must be given a safe, secure method to cast their ballot.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: During the current COVID-19 pandemic, continuity of government and education, at all levels, has depended on cooperation and bipartisan communication. I believe that the most important thing we can do to expedite the legislative process in Harrisburg is to strengthen relationships outside my caucus, which is why I have introduced three significant pieces of legislation with colleagues from across the aisle. As someone who assumed a Senate-confirmed, Presidential appointment position when the GOP controlled both the White House and U.S. Senate, I’ve seen first-hand the importance of these relationships, and have always prided myself on being able to reach across the aisle when it matters most to get things done.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: I am a strong supporter of creating such a commission to oversee the redrawing of both the state and congressional districts before the 2022 primary election. I am a co-sponsor to Senate Bill 22, Senate Bill 1022, and Senate Bill 1023, which together would create such a commission in the most expedited way.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: I have introduced legislation (Senate Bill 914) that would require all public, state-owned buildings and large, public facilities to install adult changing stations, making many spaces and activities accessible to differently abled individuals and their families. I am also proud to support Senate Bill 580, which would create a paid sick leave program in the state, allowing family members to care for loved ones during times of tragedy, and am a co-sponsor of Senate Bill 890, which would allow workers with disabilities to increase their earnings while remaining eligible for Medical Assistance. I believe passing these bills would be a tremendous start to continuing to improve accessibility for people with disabilities around our Commonwealth.
A: Voting is a fundamental right. While we have made several major changes to our election laws in the last year, we need to make sure that citizens have access to the ballot box. Same day registration would help to make voting more accessible. Additionally, we need to open primaries to allow non-affiliated voters a chance to vote in a primary election. Everyone should be able to vote privately and securely. Finally, we need to prevent the passage of real ID measures that disproportionately impact our senior and minority voters.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: Committee membership should more accurately reflect the chamber composition. One reform would be to require that all bills introduced be given at a minimum committee vote. We could also hold joint Senate-House hearings on legislation. Additionally, adopt an annual member training and updates on chamber and operating rules. We need to continue working across the aisle on issues to move legislation forward.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: Yes, an independent commission will keep those who draw the maps accountable to the citizens of Pennsylvania, not party officials or special interest groups looking out for their own interests. I introduced the idea of having an independent commission. In the coming term, I will be supporting S.B. 1022 and S.B. 1023, that will create an independent commission and guarantee this commission exists for generations to come.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

Questions:

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: Access to the ballot box for all is critical. Pennsylvania policymakers have a responsibility to ensure that there are more opportunities to participate in the electoral process. Early voting, no-excuse absentee voting, increased mail-in ballots and greater flexibility are critical components of voter accessibility - all things I strongly support. Give the pandemic, policymakers will be challenged to find new ways to increase safe and secure access to the ballot. There exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: A lot more can be done to expand benefits for those with disabilities. The first step is to ensure that adequate funding is available to expand services. Unfortunately, in tight fiscal times, one of the first places budget cutters look to claw back revenues is in lines devoted to helping those with disabilities. This should be the last place that funding is removed. Meeting health care needs, addressing employment, finding more vocational opportunities, and growing the support networks to bolster programs must also be a priority. All I want is to ensure equal access to opportunities. Beyond funding programs properly, we must do more to develop new initiatives.
Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: Society has made great strides in providing accessibility for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities. We need to constantly monitor these efforts and improve them where possible.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I do and I am a co-sponsor of the legislation. It's simple, the closer a district is to 50/50, the better those vying for the seat will consider the views of all sides. Gerrymandering, over time, causes elected officials to move further and further toward the extreme sides of their respective parties.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I respectfully take exception to the term “dysfunctional.” Gridlock is sometimes an unavoidable result of divided government. I would support reforms to give the minority a bigger voice in legislative matters—committee structure, floor votes, and legislative process—but, as those reforms would have to be supported by the majority, they are unlikely.

Q: What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: What I've done for 12 years, identify issues faced by those with disabilities—from communication with my constituents or through proposed legislation—and act accordingly to address them. Whether it be a floor vote or acting as a conduit and advocate, I have worked with my colleagues to ensure all Pennsylvanians have every opportunity to participate and succeed. I have authored resolutions recognizing Limb Loss Awareness and in 2017 the state House of Representatives unanimously adopted my resolution designating Monday, Jan. 30, as “Pennsylvanians with Disabilities Day.”

Questions:
Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: If it was up to me, I would have Pennsylvania’s elections be conducted entirely by mail. I’ve introduced legislation to do just that for two terms. In fact, it was the language from my bill (HB 1059) that was used to authorize voting by mail in the election code modernization cited above. In our current system, I’m supportive of automatic voter registration, same day voter registration, early voting and permitting high school students to register ahead of their 18th birthday. I have also authorized paper ballot only legislation.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I am open to the idea of an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts. I believe one person doesn’t know all. I think it is important for our elected officials to surround themselves with and seek out people that have full knowledge of particular subjects. This way they can learn and make an informed decision. While the legislative process is slow, I understand the purpose of vetting legislation to ensure it is what is best for Pennsylvania. As a reformer myself I am always open to ways to make government more proficient and effective.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: Protecting Pennsylvanians with disabilities is a must. I am willing to review and support any legislation that will help those with disabilities across the Commonwealth.
State House Democratic Chairman of Finance Committee Community Organizer/servant of the People

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: I will continue to be a strong voice and advocate for breaking down all discriminatory practices, policies, and barriers. We have a very difficult and long road to create a truly equitable society, especially as it relates to our citizens who have disabilities. The fact that many of our skilled and talented citizens still have extremely high unemployment or are underemployed based upon our structural barriers and discriminatory practices requires strong voices and constant advocacy from people in these positions and that is what I want to continue to be for all of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: Absolutely. I believe an independent redistricting commission is one of the most fundamental protections we can establish for our democracy to ensure that it works for the people. I would further require that this redistricting commission count prisoners as residents of their home municipality and not where they are incarcerated.

The current system of prisoner gerrymandering disenfranchises already vulnerable communities and distributes representation unfairly.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: Same day voter registration and voting. Real early voting. Allow all citizens, even those incarcerated, to participate in any election or something equivalent. The basic premise is to create an incentive for citizens to participate.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: As a legislator, I would turn to the stakeholders within communities with disabilities to ensure that their needs are being properly addressed and considered as we make all of our decisions. As someone who used to work in a community for persons with disabilities, I know that the best people to advocate for persons with disabilities are those persons, themselves. I am privileged to live without a disability and for that reason it is my responsibility to listen to the people who are impacted most when we fail to consider accommodations for those with disabilities when we make our decisions. With their input, I would fight for the funding and resources needed to provide adequate accommodations in all areas for people with disabilities.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I will not support any reform to how we draw our congressional or legislative districts that does not also include how we count our citizens who are incarcerated. There can not be fair districts that are still based on those individuals and their home counties. Thus, until that change, I will not and cannot support any false concept of a fair and nonpolitical “independent commission.”

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

ARE OTHER REFORMS THAT WOULD FURTHER MODERNIZE PENNSYLVANIA’S ELECTIONS. IF ELECTED, WHAT REFORMS WOULD YOU SUPPORT TO ENSURE THAT ALL CITIZENS WHO WANT TO VOTE ARE ABLE TO SECURELY, PRIVATELY, AND INDEPENDENTLY CAST A BALLOT?
A: I BELIEVE IT SHOULD BE EASIER TO VOTE – PENNSYLVANIA SHOULD HAVE SAME-DAY VOTER REGISTRATION, ELECTION DAY AS A HOLIDAY AND EARLY VOTING. I’VE SPONSORED HB1556, WHICH WOULD AUTOMATICALLY REGISTER PEOPLE TO VOTE WHEN THEY INTERACT WITH PENNDOT, THE STATE DEPARTMENTS OF HEALTH OR HUMAN SERVICES, OR ANY OTHER STATE AGENCY.

Q: WHILE THERE HAVE BEEN SOME POSITIVE LEGISLATIVE ACTIONS RECENTLY, PARTISAN GRIDLOCK IN HARRISBURG HAS TAKEN ITS TOLL, AND MANY PEOPLE FEEL THAT PENNSYLVANIA’S STATE GOVERNMENT IS DYSFUNCTIONAL. WHAT TYPES OF REFORMS, IF ANY, WOULD YOU SUPPORT TO MAKE THE LEGISLATIVE PROCESS IN HARRISBURG MORE EFFECTIVE?
A: I SUPPORT A BAN ON LEGISLATORS TO BUILD TRUST BETWEEN THEM AND THE PEOPLE THEY REPRESENT. I ALSO SUPPORT CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM, AND MY CAMPAIGN DOES NOT ACCEPT CORPORATE CONTRIBUTIONS. WE MUST ENSURE THAT LEGISLATORS REPRESENT THE INTERESTS OF THEIR CONSTITUENTS, NOT POWERFUL CORPORATIONS.

Q: DO YOU SUPPORT A STATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO FORM AN INDEPENDENT COMMISSION TO REDRAW CONGRESSIONAL AND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS? WHY OR WHY NOT?
A: YES, I SUPPORT FAIR DISTRICTS’ LEGISLATION TO USE A STATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO FORM AN INDEPENDENT COMMISSION TO REDRAW VOTING DISTRICTS. WE NEED TO STRENGTHEN OUR DEMOCRACY AT EVERY LEVEL, WHICH MEANS ELIMINATING THE CONFLICT OF INTEREST THAT COMES WITH LEGISLATORS DRAW THEIR OWN DISTRICTS.

Q: 2020 MARKS THE 30TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT. HOWEVER, MANY BARRIERS STILL EXIST FOR PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES. WHAT WILL YOU DO AS A STATE LEGISLATOR TO IMPROVE ACCESSIBILITY FOR PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES ACROSS THE COMMONWEALTH?
A: I SUPPORT A BAN ON SUBMINIMUM WAGES FOR ALL PEOPLE, INCLUDING PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES. I BELIEVE THAT ANY STATE AND PUBLIC DOLLARS THAT GO TO CORPORATIONS MUST COME WITH CAVEATS. PENNSYLVANIA HAS THE OPPORTUNITY TO PRIORITIZE INCENTIVES TO COMPANIES THAT GUARANTEE INTEGRATED WORKPLACES THAT PROVIDE MEANINGFUL WORK FOR INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES. IN THE SHORT TERM, PENNSYLVANIA SHOULD OFFER A CONSUMER-DIRECTED CARE OPTION IN THE WORKPLACE SO THAT ASSISTANCE CAN BE MORE SPECIALIZED TO AN INDIVIDUAL’S NEEDS, SO THAT MORE PEOPLE CAN BE SUPPORTED. IN THE LONG TERM, PENNSYLVANIA SHOULD NOT ONLY PASS A MEDICARE FOR ALL PROGRAM, BUT ALSO ENSURE THAT CARE FOR INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES UNDER SUCH A PROGRAM WOULD BE CONSUMER-DIRECTED.

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. A: I believe it should be easier to vote – Pennsylvania should have same-day voter registration, election day as a holiday and early voting. I’ve sponsored HB1556, which would automatically register people to vote when they interact with PennDOT, the state departments of Health or Human Services, or any other state agency.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: Pennsylvania has one of the most expense state legislatures in the country, yet it performs near the bottom of the spectrum. Reducing the cost of our government is a crucial first step. Unfortunately, in the case of elected officials, their power and status are usually tied to the size of the budget they have authority over. This disincentivizes reducing government spending. In terms of making the overall process more effective, I would like to see legislation that is targeted only at one issue and not a scatter shot of special interest issues that causes the type of gridlock that this question mentions.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: There is a lot of room for improvement with how our congressional and legislative districts are drawn. I feel that the more pragmatic approach to this issue is to form an independent commission without a constitutional amendment. The reason I say that is because when people start hearing constitutional amendment there is nearly always a large amount of backlash and effort to prevent it from happening. This would tie into the legislative gridlock mentioned in the previous question.
Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: One of my primary campaign platforms is mental health advocacy and de-stigmatization. In a perfect world, physical health and mental health would not be separate conversations in our society. There are numerous barriers to care that could be eliminated or reduced in order to improve the lives of those that need access to these services the most. There has been a noted decline in the number of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities “IDD” who have competitive employment. They deserve the same opportunities to work and that includes the same quality that all Americans want.

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: I believe that mail-in voting is so important, and I am hopeful that a silver lining of the Covid-19 crisis is that we will be forced to smooth out the kinks and make it work. I am a cosponsor on many other bills that would make it easier to vote in person, as well – I think there’s a place for both. I favor a system to allow people the flexibility to vote on their own timetable and I also support automatic voter registration for residents when they interact with PennDOT, access Pennsylvania’s health and human services benefit programs, or any other state service.
Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: Pennsylvanians deserve representatives who act on behalf of their constituents — not their contributors — and who use campaign donations to fight for like-minded candidates, and not line their own pockets. There is probably no reform that could make a bigger difference in mending the dysfunction in Harrisburg than setting campaign contribution limits. Incredibly, we are one of just 8 states that have zero limits on campaign giving. I have consistently supported bills to change that.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: I have always supported apportionment and redistricting based largely on population of all voting districts, with additional consideration given to other factors, such as municipal boundaries, keeping the districts compact and contiguous, and not dividing communities of interest if possible. I support an independent special commission whose members reflect PA’s diversity to conduct both legislative and Congressional redistricting. It would... need to conduct its work in a way that is transparent, accountable, and fair.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: We have learned in the last 3 decades that making the world more accessible to disabled people benefits everyone. You cannot always anticipate whose voices and contributions we are missing out on because we have failed to ensure broad access. We need the contributions of disabled people, but then we find that adding more flexibility and technology to the workplace and other places also allows us to benefit from more participation from parents of young children or other groups that weren’t initially obvious. I will always support regulations that get more people to the table to work, attend school, vote, exercise and play. It benefits marginalized people, but really, it benefits all of us because we need those voices.

Questions:
Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: I support the reforms included on the March on Harrisburg “Reform Menu”. All of these reforms have already been implemented in multiple states for years. These include (1) automatic voter registration (citizens become registered after registering with the state for any license. They can choose to opt out), (2) same day voter registration (voters can provide proof of address and identity and register at the polling place as is), (3) sending ballots to all registered voters, and (4) providing prepaid return envelopes for ballots. I also support Early Voting, Election Day holiday reforms, and Proportional Representation.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: This is a focus of my campaign, I’d vote to get money out of politics. I’m campaigning on a gift ban to make défini voting illegible. I’d limit campaign contributions to $1000 per person per candidate. I’d address dysfunction by voting to reform the legislative rules as advocated for by Fair Districts PA. Current rules allow legislation with massive support to be completely ignored by a tiny group of legislators. Lots of good legislation is held on ice without ever seeing a vote. I agree that bills cosponsored by a majority of house members should move to the floor and that legislation with many committee cosponsors should get a vote in committee. I also agree that legislation shouldn’t be amended right before it sees a final vote.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts. Our existing method of letting state legislators create both maps has very clearly been shown to be corrupt with whoever is in power choosing to contort districts to benefit their own party using highly sophisticated computer software. These maps are often negotiated with the minority party causing our state to be carved into pieces as if we’re spoils. Our gerrymandered districts make general elections less competitive to the point that it is easy as possible for those who can live alone to get elected, but still get the support they need.

Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: I believe that we took the first step last year, but I believe that considering the Covid-19 pandemic we need to ensure that every Pennsylvanian can cast a ballot no matter the situation. I am about to introduce a bill that will help achieve this by making it so that instead of requiring people to apply for a mail in ballot they will instead be sent a mail in ballot automatically by their counties.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: The one reform that I feel that we need is ensuring more transparency in our campaign finance system. We need to know how much private money is influencing public policy.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: Yes, I believe that an independent council would be fairer. It would take redistricting out of the hands of politicians and put it in the hands of the people; as long as it reflects the diversity of the state.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: I would make sure that municipalities actually enforce the Americans with Disabilities Act so that our Commonwealth is accessible to all. I would also ensure that the disability community is at the table not only for major decisions but also for minor decisions since 2009.

portant rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s election code. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: One of the most important things we must do as elected officials is to preserve the right to vote. We cannot allow our system to disenfranchise any group or demographic of our population from their fundamental right to vote. We know that mail-in voting is safe and secure. The mail-in process was effective, safe and secure when utilized in Pennsylvania for this year’s Primary election. Many states have utilized ballot drop boxes to ensure that every voter has access to cast their vote safely and securely. Additionally, with more residents utilizing a mail-in option, I believe we should look at ways to allow county election departments to pre-canvas ballots prior to Election Day.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: I believe it is vital to address the reapportionment process as well as meaningful campaign finance reform and I have co-sponsored many pieces of legislation over the years to address these vital issues. The current reapportionment system allows for gerrymandering of districts which fosters an unfair system of control. When one party has a large majority over another, you stifle the process. When the majority has a large advantage, there is less willingness for compromise and meaningful debate. This needs to change and meaningful reapportionment and campaign finance reform would be important steps to effect that change.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I believe that there should be a fair process for reapportionment and that redistricting lines are not drawn to ensure party affiliation control. The only way to achieve that is through an independent commission. I am a co-sponsor of House Bill 22, which proposes a constitutional amendment to reform the current processes by which Pennsylvania conducts the decennial redistricting of both congressional and state legislative districts (House and Senate). This bill will create an 11-member Independent Redistricting Commission to replace the existing Legislative Reapportionment Commission. This legislation would have House and Senate district lines drawn by a randomly selected group of voters from both major political parties and independents.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: The ADA is civil rights legislation that has never gone far enough to make our society truly accessible to all. We treat people with disabilities as people requiring accommodation, rather than recognizing that the culture & constructs we’ve created must be changed to have a society that is accessible to all. People with disabilities aren’t an afterthought & we must move toward crafting legislation in line with the principles of Universal Design. I support establishing independent commissions or agencies on the state level to ensure proper enforcement and oversight of ADA regulations. I will work with all parties to bring stakeholders to the table, and allow those stakeholders to lead on their issues, so that democracy works for everyone.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: Pennsylvania’s recent addition of mail-in voting is welcome and necessary. Now voters do not have to choose between their health and their civic duty. I am glad that Allegheny County will be mailing ballot applications to all voters, including pre-paid return envelopes. I would like to see this expanded across our state. Furthermore, I support public awareness campaigns to publicize and grow vote-by-mail in the future. In addition to vote-by-mail, I support same-day voter registration which would further expand voting rights to all eligible voters in our state. I also support automatic voter registration anytime an individual interacts with a state entity with the default being that individuals are registered as opposed to an opt-out system.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: My first commitment is to a highly responsive legislative office in my district that will address constituent questions & provide access to government resources. I will work to ensure all calls & emails receive a response within 24 hours. I will work to ensure transparency regarding all real or perceived conflicts of interest. Prior to voting, I will seek public comments on legislation and the budget. I support suspending legislative salaries when budget deadlines are not met which provides appropriate incentives for efficient and effective government. I reject legislative privilege and will work to restart the economy safely for all workers.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: Drawing Congressional and legislative districts are among the most consequential activities of the state legislature. While an independent commission sounds appealing, it is important that accountability remain in place for elected officials rather than placing it into the hands of an unelected and unaccountable commission. The current system allows for non-partisan independent commissions and citizens to participate and for the courts to review and rule on their objections.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: The Americans with Disabilities Act is a landmark piece of legislation that has benefited countless Pennsylvanians. I will work to defend the rights and concept contained within the ADA and will be an advocate for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth. I will work to effectively use employer and housing tax credits to ensure employment and housing for Pennsylvanians with disabilities.

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: In 2019 I voted “yes” to an historic election reform bill that made the most significant improvement to elections in more than 80 years. Act 77 of 2019 gives all registered voters the option to vote by mail without needing to provide a reason for doing so. The bill extends the deadline to register to vote to 15 days before the election instead of 30. The deadline for returning an absentee ballot has also been extended until 8:00 pm on Election Day. Additionally, voters with permanent disabilities may request to be placed on a permanent absentee voter list. Finally, the Act provides $90 million in funding for new voting systems which will improve voting integrity and provide a paper trail.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in...
Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: I work with people, not political parties. When I was a local elected official, I collaborated with my fellow township commissioners to serve the residents of my community without regard to political affiliation. I have continued my record of bi-partisan leadership in Harrisburg. My first bill, House Bill 318 Changes to Do Not Call List, was voted unanimously in the House and Senate and was signed into law by the governor in October of 2019. I also introduced House Bill 1970 PA Local Solar, and Senator Jay Costa introduced similar legislation in the Senate. I continue to demonstrate my willingness to find common ground and work with House and Senate members on both sides of the aisle.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: I have supported the initiative to create an independent commission for redistricting by co-sponsoring House Bill 22 and 23. Creating an independent commission would increase transparency and allow members of the General Assembly to be one step removed from the process. I have also co-sponsored House Bill 2638, the Legislative and Congressional Redistricting Act. This legislation would establish clear, measurable map-drawing criteria, include public hearings and give Pennsylvania residents the opportunity to submit citizen maps. It would also increase transparency and prohibit gerrymandering.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: I am proud of voting for increased funding for human services with focus on help similar legislation with disabilities. As legislators we must continue to work to provide inclusive education and expanded work opportunities so more Pennsylvanians can utilize their abilities and lead fulfilling lives.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: I support changing state laws to make it easier for all citizens to vote. This includes same-day voter registration, having more days to submit your mail-in or absentee ballot, encouraging counties to set up central sites for early voting before election day, and allowing workers to take unpaid time off if necessary for them to cast a vote on election day. The state government also needs to provide sufficient resources and lead time to county boards of elections to properly implement mandated changes in voting systems.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: I am prime sponsor of a comprehensive bill to limit the impact that special interests with deep pockets can have on elections. It would limit how much any person or political committee can donate to a candidate in an election, and strengthen requirements for reporting such contributions. Too many bills are passed with little or no public notice. I support using our House committees to air issues in advance at hearings with more public input.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts?
A: Continuation education on the legislative process to the voters as well as transparency.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: Yes. I am running for a seat that has been held for 30 years by an incumbent who essentially drew the lines.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: I think PA has done a good job following ADA in terms of accessibility(both our infrastructure and our population is aged), I would continue to support accessibility for projects that way the generations to come can have accessibility.

Questions:

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: While I think the updated election codes are a step in the right direction, we should be working to automatically provide access to voter registration at DMV and other local state agencies, as well as same-day registration on election day. Eventually I’d like to see us reach a standard of automatic, universal registration for eligible adults in the Commonwealth. During the unprecedented and ongoing crisis we are currently facing with COVID-19, it has become especially important to automatically provide mail-in ballots for residents, and I am proud of this county’s efforts to ensure Allegheny voters all receive such a ballot. I hope to see this effort replicated through the Commonwealth.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: Improved standards for reporting on executive programs by departments, agencies, and commissions coupled with changes to the rules of procedure that would increase legislator’s access to relevant information and streamline the legislative duties of each legislator can greatly increase the efficacy of the legislature. I also believe an extension in legislative terms from two to four years would allow legislators more time to actually legislate rather than to exist in a constant state of campaigning.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I do, with the understanding that such a commission and a general push towards fair districts would allow an even playing field and remove one layer of partisan electioneering from the efforts of our state government - allowing us more freedom to actually govern.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities of PA state candidates and limits on independent expenditure campaigns as well. Partisan gerrymandering also contributes to partisan gridlock in Harrisburg, as more polarized districts make it so that elected officials are answerable only to members of their own party. Expanding the electorate is also a solution to partisan gridlock because it holds elected officials accountable to more of the people they represent.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I do. Partisan gerrymandering denies voters fair representation and increases gridlock in Harrisburg. Currently, legislators can manipulate the boundaries of districts in order to keep themselves in office, resulting in Pennsylvania being the most gerrymandered state in the country. An independent citizens commission increases the transparency, fairness, and accountability of the process.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: As a person with a disability myself, I know well the many barriers to accessibility that exist in Pennsylvania. I support increased state funding for accessible early childhood programs, special ed, school therapists & counselors, Medicaid waivers, living wages for service providers, paid family & sick leave, employment programs for students w/ disabilities, Office of Voc Rehab, incentives for businesses to hire PWDs, diversion & community-based treatment to decrease incarceration of PWDs, among other programs. Pennsylvanians w/ disabilities have the same desires and rights as those without disabilities, and I will do everything in my power to ensure that the rights of people like me are upheld.

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: Act 77 was historic legislation that brought Pennsylvanian election law out of the Dark Ages and provided funding to help counties implement more accessible and secure ways of voting. The current COVID-19 crisis delayed our Primary Election and the reform allowing no-excuse vote by mail-in ballot turned out to be extremely timely given the current restrictions on public interaction. While Act 77 was a big step in the right direction, I believe that there are more reforms needed to extend the vote to all Pennsylvanians. I am supportive of election law reforms that help our citizens register, make it easier to vote by mail, adopt curbside voting for disabled persons, and provide funding to protect the integrity of our elections.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: There are a number of parliamentary rules that could be changed to ensure more effective communication between caucuses, the branches of government, and representatives to create a more stable and reliable legislative schedule. Politically, there are barriers to entry that protect incumbents to the point that some are no longer representative of their constituents. By enacting reforms that create a more stable body (i.e. longer, staggered terms), while increasing political accountability (i.e. campaign contribution limits, electoral cycle contributions, etc.), we can carve out space for representatives who are more willing to compromise and more accountable to voters that would result in a more functional legislative process.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: If the commission is truly independent as the League has proposed, I support the constitutional amendment, however, any attempt by the General Assembly to influence the selection of commission members would undermine the entire process. While political gerrymanders are not new to our nation, the sophistication of new strategies that include an incumbent’s supporters. When politicians can choose their voters, they become less moderate and willing to compromise - forgoing an essential requirement of effective governance. Any legislation aimed at reducing the effects of partisan gerrymandering has my support as long as its independent.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: Ensuring that the spirit of the law codified in the Americans with Disabilities Act continues is a job that is never complete and an effort that requires continuous progress to ensure that the most vulnerable among us are not left behind. The rights of individuals with disabilities need to be protected, their access to policy makers is extremely important, and their voice needs to be heard in Harrisburg and throughout the Commonwealth. As a state legislator, I will ensure that individuals with disabilities have a seat at the table to provide their perspective on all legislation and have the opportunity to advocate for their needs.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: No. I believe the creation of any “independent” commission would prove to be another layer of bureaucracy that would not have a proper selection process nor would they be directly accountable to the people of Pennsylvania.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: As an elected State Representative I will represent everyone and that means working to do everything I can to work to ensure those with disabilities are able to live healthy and fulfilling lives. Speaking with my constituents in Whitehall Borough in this regard, this means that the ADA Act, like any law, needs to be continually worked upon to more effectively prohibit discrimination based on disabilities.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: Act 77 of 2019 ensured many changes in the way Pennsylvanians are able to vote and how our elections are conducted. The people in Pennsylvania have more voting options than ever before. While I think this is good, we have seen logistical challenges and growing pains with many county board of elections across the state. I would first suggest the legislature provide more guidance on the process to the counties and take measures to ensure that mail-in ballots are securely received, verified and counted in a timely manner. We must take steps to make sure our voter rolls are up to date in order to ensure integrity in our elections. Voting is America’s most sacred constitutional right and it can never be compromised.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?

A: Passing of a Balanced Budget Amendment would force state legislators to work together to reach a goal and accomplish the people’s business while also ensuring we are not passing our financial burdens down to future generations. An Amendment to limit the powers of the Governor during any state declared emergency. The voters of our Commonwealth elected State Senators, State Representatives and one Governor. All elected state officials must work together for the good of Pennsylvanians. Checks and balances are important to democracy and one person should never be able to operate with near unlimited power.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: No. I believe the creation of any “independent” commission would prove to be another layer of bureaucracy that would not have a proper selection process nor would they be directly accountable to the people of Pennsylvania.

Questions:

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: As stated in my previous answer, not only do I support a constitutional amendment, but I believe a nonpartisan, transparent redistricting is the only way we can ensure a fair and productive legislation for Pennsylvania. The current gerrymandering strips citizens of their voice and power in the process. To truly be a government of and for the people, we need to make it our mission to create legislative districts that guarantee that every vote has equal value.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: Equal accessibility does not mean everybody gets the same, but that everybody is equality entitled to their individual needs. I wish this was a simple advancement, however with the plethora of needs in an unlimited number of situations, this is a much larger issue than any single act. Starting in childhood, the majority of playgrounds are not wheelchair accessible. It is time to reexamine what the Americans with Disability Acts promises and how we can ensure that every American of every ability level is promised the quality of life they deserve. While this starts at the swingset, it carries over to classrooms, to the workforce, and even to their local polling place. One important step is to enforce the law already in place.

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvanias elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: I fully support accessibility for all voters to receive a mail-in ballot. Knowing that whether you are sheltering in place during an illness, a pandemic, or bad weather; or job responsibilities prevent you from reaching your polling place on time you should feel confident that your vote matters and will still be heard. Your vote is your opportunity to select the type of representation and government you want in Harrisburg and Washington DC; it is your voice and if you are not able to go the polls it is important that you are still able to vote. Voting is your civic responsibility which protects you and your loved ones now and in the future.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania's state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: The self-interests of partisan politicians to remain in power through gerrymandered Congressional and Legislative Districts cannot be allowed to continue. Pennsylvania is one of the worst gerrymandered states in our nation and allows party leadership the ability to enforce votes along strict party-line ideology. If an elected individual votes against the party they can be punished with gerrymandered districts with the potential for more extreme voices to be elected. Gerrymandered districts exacerbate the partisan gridlock we see in Harrisburg today. When districts are drawn more fairly the opportunity for moderate voices will be heard and elected. A non-partisan, independent citizens review board should be in place after the 2020 census.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: Yes, I would support an independent commission to redraw Congressional and Legislative Districts because politicians should not continue the practice of picking their voters. Your vote is your voice and if fair districts are not achieved after the 2020 census we will have missed the opportunity for every voice to be heard until 2030. We cannot wait to fix our fractured government; it is the voter who should be selecting the politicians and not the other way around. The self interests of partisan politicians to remain in power through gerrymandered Congressional and Legislative Districts cannot be allowed to continue. The creation of an independent citizen review board will begin the process of a fair and more representational form of government.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: While Mail-in ballots will help eliminate some barriers for voters with disabilities, making sure that all polling places are selected with Universal Design elements in place will also help to promote a welcoming place for all voters. When voting machines and polling places are designed to increase accessibility for one voter, that design will convey the importance that all voters should have availability to the polling place. As legislators we must protect the voting rights of all Americans; everyone must be a part of the process with easy access to voting whether at home through mail-in ballots or in person at their polling place.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s election code. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: Having voted in the affirmative for Act 77 of 2019, and then seeing its implementation this past June, we know that many steps were taken to modernize our voting system, in fact that was the most significant update to Pennsylvania’s election code in over 80 years. But much remains to be done. Knowing that we would have an unprecedented election with our new voting systems, I authored House Bill 2502, an election integrity bill that required the County elections divisions from all 67 counties to furnish a report with 60 days of the election so that the General Assembly could analyze how Act 77 has impacted our voters and enact legislation accordingly. I am proud to say my bill passed both chambers and we are currently analyzing the data.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: In my experience, it has been more about the individuals elected to serve and not any particular reform or potential reform standing in the way of progress. Starting off with issues we can agree on, coming together for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania and building from there. No two legislative districts are alike and no two legislators are alike. I believe it is necessary to work across the aisle to accomplish legislative goals. One of my top initiatives has been a partnership with a fellow colleague from across the aisle working on a victim’s rights bill for the last year. The last two bills I have introduced have over 40 bipartisan co-sponsors each, and that is because my colleagues know that I put the people over party.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: While I fully support accessibility for all voters to receive a mail-in ballot. Knowing that whether you are sheltering in place during an illness, a pandemic, or bad weather; or job responsibilities prevent you from reaching your polling place on time you should feel confident that your vote matters and will still be heard. Your vote is your opportunity to select the type of representation and government you want in Harrisburg and Washington DC; it is your voice and if you are not able to go the polls it is important that you are still able to vote. Voting is your civic responsibility which protects you and your loved ones now and in the future.
ment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: I believe that the people deserve a fair and transparent redistricting process. There have been several legislative proposals just in my short time in office to ensure that both happen. It would be supportive of the proposal that can increase transparency, while holding accountable the individuals who are ultimately charged with redrawing those lines because I believe that accountability would ensure fairness to all who are represented in a particular district. These initiatives after all are about making certain that everyone has a voice.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: I was honored to assist one of my colleagues this year making certain that everyone has a voice. I have been a co-sponsor of legislation to both host and helping to raise awareness for people with disabilities most important civil rights bills, but its mission is participatory. I think a fair and independent commission to form an independent commission to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: While partisanship has been with us almost since our founding, hyper-partisanship is limiting our nation’s future. I think a big part of the problem is extreme gerrymandering. The more partisan our districts get the more difficult reaching a compromise seems to be. The reality is that rules of the House itself hasn’t changed much in a generation- our districts have. Districts now can be drawn like a computer to dilute a street and calculating wins and losses before candidates have even been announced. This process pushes both parties further apart. While it is good to offer different ideas for people to consider in an election, it is not healthy to never compromise on any of them. I believe ending gerrymandering would help end gridlock.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: Yes I support an independent commission to redraw our legislative districts in Pennsylvania. There have been a couple different versions of ideas floated as to how best to do that, but I believe that our state would be well served by taking this process out of the direct hands of the legislators. I think a fair and independent commission would help rebuild public confidence that our government works for them and that their vote is important in elections, hopefully leading to greater turnout and participation.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: The Americans with Disabilities Act was one of our nation’s most important civil rights bills, but its mission is not yet completed. Most pressing is the fact that in the majority of our states over 60% of people with disabilities are not engaged in the workforce. Despite the gains we have made in providing more inclusive education, we still have yet to see this make sizable differences in employment opportunities for people with disabilities. My hope is to continue to prioritize this issue, as it was the main focus of my Disabilities and Mental Health Summit this past March.

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that could modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: I have a bill that would increase voting accessibility for citizens who are blind, deafblind and otherwise physically unable to manipulate our current voting devices without assistance. Currently, most people with these disabilities cannot vote securely, privately and independently in Pennsylvania. This bill first requires a software program to be available to voters that would allow them to apply independently for mail-in and absentee ballots and fill them out independently as well. The bill additionally requires an accessible voting machine with software and hardware capabilities that allows everyone to vote independently, securely and privately alongside their neighbors (if they so choose) at ever voting center in the state.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: Preventing gerrymandering from skewing districts therefore disenfranchising voters and causing unfair representation for hundreds of thousands of voters is a personal goal of mine. Although my opponent went to Harrisburg saying she would work across the aisle, she doesn’t. Her record is clear and other representatives report she is unwilling to work with the other party. Good leadership means putting Pennsylvania’s first not political ambitions. Former lobbyists should not be allowed to run for State Representative for at least 10 years after they have worked for corporations or lobby groups.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: Yes. This is the key piece of eliminating gerrymandering. I have met young voters on door who say they vote, going through the motions, but feel their votes do not count. Gerrymandering voters is deadly to Democracy. Gerrymander fosters being concerned about issues that have little importance but help legislators in a gerrymandered district retain their seats while serious issues like funding education, infrastructure, and our Department of Environmental Protection adequately get pushed aside. These legislators in gerrymandered districts need not address burning issues since they are assured of reelection.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: I will work with advocates for the disabled to investigate and pass possible additional improvements. In addition to working with advocates for the disabled to investigate and pass possible additional improvements. In addition to helping address the unique issues individuals with disabilities face, the best thing we can do today for all Americans – disabled or not – is ensure they have access to good jobs and the ability to retain the money they earn. That is why my immediate focus in the legislature will be restarting Pennsylvania’s economy and bringing strong fiscal discipline to Harrisburg to protect taxpayers.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I support an independent redistricting commission to ensure new districts are created free of politics, are compact & contiguous, and ignore incumbency or party registration. Its why I'm introducing the Non Partisan Congressional Redistricting Act that would model PA off of Iowa's system which has a proven track record of working in Iowa. Every ten years, a temporary redistricting advisory commission gets created within the already existing non partisan Legislative Reference Bureau (LRB). By establishing this commission within LRB (the entity which drafts legislation for all members of the legislature) we can have a map that is free from partisan influence. Additionally, housing the Commission within an already existing governing body.

Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania's elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?

A: One of the other. There are reforms (i.e. limiting length of committee chairmanships, requiring more public input time to legislation) that could be enacted, but right now our goal must be working together to take the necessary steps to safely restart our economy and help PA’s residents. No single politician should be able to unilaterally make decisions that affect all Pennsylvanians without transparency; we need strong oversight of the executive branch and to make fiscally responsible budget decisions that focus on our priorities.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?

A: I support the formation of a commission to redraw congressional and legislative districts. I believe the commission should be comprised of independent citizens and officials from all levels of government. Any redistricting plan should be subject to public comment from across the Commonwealth, with a process in place to give genuine consideration to the public input.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?

A: The ADA provided more freedom and opportunity for disabled Americans and has continued to be improved upon over the past three decades. As a legislator, I would work with advocates for the disabled to investigate and pass possible additional improvements. In addition to helping address the unique issues individuals with disabilities face, the best thing we can do today for all Americans – disabled or not – is ensure they have access to good jobs and the ability to retain the money they earn. to enforce the Americans with Disabilities Act. If funds are not available to do so, then I will work with municipalities to secure needed state funding, and will advocate for greater state funding to be available. A shrug and no action from municipal authorities is unacceptable.

Questions:
Q: Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen. Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: Transportation is a major barrier for many voters, particularly in suburban areas without good public transit. A temporary fix would be state funding for municipalities to provide shuttle service on election day to all residents; long term, we need to expand public transit services. Let’s have state funding to pay poll workers more so we can recruit more workers and have more voting locations open, so there’s minimal wait time. Both poll workers and voters need the time off work to serve and vote; that time should include enough time to learn more about all the candidates on the ballot. I support making election day a statewide paid holiday. Automatic and same-day voter registration must also be implemented. Many states already do so.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: Gridlock and dysfunction come from hyper-partisanship, “top-down” control by a few top party officials, and lack of accountability for legislators. I support mending legislative rules to allow legislation to advance to a vote when it has sufficient co-sponsors and support, instead of letting party or committee leaders hold up bills indefinitely even when those bills have large legislative and popular support. Partisanship can be lessened with ranked choice voting, which research has shown tends to result in more “friendly” elections and less extreme candidates that know how to compromise. Ending gerrymandering and easing ballot access requirements allows more candidates so voters have choices to hold incumbents accountable for dysfunction.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: I support establishing an independent redistricting commission, as long as it is truly independent of the legislature and represents ALL voters (meaning registered minor party, political body, and independent voters must be represented too, not just Democrats and Republicans). I also support adopting ranked choice voting and multi-winner districts (a form of proportional representation) to fully address gerrymandering. Ranked candidates in multi-winner districts allow us to elect multiple people at once from a single, larger district, making gerrymandering for all seats all but impossible. These reforms were historically used in many US cities to end the rule of party bosses and ensure diverse community representation in government.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: One complaint I hear from neighbors is the poor condition of roads and sidewalks in our region. I support more state funding to ensure sidewalks and crosswalks that are accessible by wheelchair as well as for deaf or blind folks. In general, municipalities must be expected

Although Pennsylvania recently modernized its election code, there are other reforms that would further modernize Pennsylvania’s elections. If elected, what reforms would you support to ensure that all citizens who want to vote are able to securely, privately, and independently cast a ballot?
A: I was a supporter of the election reforms we made this year in PA. We extended the registration period and allowed mail in ballots without requiring a reason. Voter registration when obtaining a driver’s license is also extremely helpful. I am pleased that registration two weeks prior to voting is good for those who want to vote and it allows the state adequate time to ensure integrity in elections. I look forward to this primary election as a test on the integrity of the mail-in ballots. It is important to me to maintain fair and honest elections.

Q: While there have been some positive legislative actions recently, partisan gridlock in Harrisburg has taken its toll, and many people feel that Pennsylvania’s state government is dysfunctional. What types of reforms, if any, would you support to make the legislative process in Harrisburg more effective?
A: I see gridlock in Washington D.C. In Harrisburg I see discussions but not gridlock. My committees all have members from both sides of the aisle and all issues are discussed. That does not mean that everything we all desire is approved. While it can be frustrating, that is how democracy functions. My job is to convince 101 other Representatives that my ideas are good even after I have to modify them to obtain the necessary amount of votes to accomplish the goal.

Q: Do you support a state constitutional amendment to form an independent commission to redraw Congressional and legislative districts? Why or why not?
A: I have listened to several different approaches to redrawing Congressional and Legislative Districts after the completion of the census. I am in favor of creating a committee that is a proportional representation of our constituents. I plan on listening to all proposals and will consider ones that balance logic with independence and political expertise.

Q: 2020 marks the 30th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. However, many barriers still exist for people with disabilities. What will you do as a state legislator to improve accessibility for people with disabilities across the Commonwealth?
A: Persons with disabilities deserve inclusion wherever and whenever possible. It is our job in Harrisburg and in our districts to work to make that happen. They also deserve a choice and a voice. I support people with disabilities. In addition I am a strong supporter of Anti-bullying which can often impact those with disabilities.
