THE NEWSLETTER

Vol. 67 No. 8

October 2026

Note from the Editor

Dear Members and Friends,

Welcome to another edition of THE VOTER, which looks a bit different than it has in the past issues. The software we were using previously was discontinued. I have to really, really thank Leslie Leach, our former editor, for all the dedication and work she put into the previous version. If you've ever published any kind of multi-page newsletter, you'll understand. It was a labor of love.

This new edition has been built from scratch using Canva, and it's slightly imperfect. Like all the best recipes, we will continue to adjust as we go, looking for the best we can.

Thank you for your patience as we work through the change. And thank you for your time, and your unwavering dedication to making our community stronger and our democracy more inclusive.

P.S. If you're familiar with Canva - please reach out!

In League,
Kathy Johanson

Rural Local Leagues Quarterly Meeting by Peggy Syvertson, Vice President

The first Rural League meeting for the 2026-2027 year was held on August 28, 2026 by Zoom. Discussion focused on challenges and best practices for rural county leagues.

The meeting focused on election-related activities, with extensive discussion about conducting candidate forums and candidate nights in rural counties where some candidates are reluctant to participate due to political concerns.

Participants shared experiences and solutions, including the “speed dating” format where candidates meet with voters at separate tables, and addressed challenges with proposition education, with the State League planning an advocacy forum on specific propositions. The group also discussed guidelines around forums, including the requirement that more than one candidate must participate and the importance of using league members as moderators to maintain neutrality. Additional topics covered included voting methods during current postal concerns, the availability of Easy Voter Guides, and strategies for recruiting league members at candidate events.

Membership Brunch Recap by Becky Simpson, Membership Director

Our main speaker, Tom Carson, has a strong financial background, having been a partner at an international accounting firm and CFO of several public companies. Over the past sixteen years, he has been very active at all levels of the League in financial roles, and worked with numerous local Leagues in California as well as other states. He served as the LWVC Treasurer, following four years as its Budget Chair. Tom also focuses heavily on voter service activities, both locally and with LWVC. He previously served as president of his local League, treasurer for the LWV Los Angeles County ILO, and primary LWVUS consultant for Leagues wishing to consider converting to tax status under Sec. 501(c)(3). He presented talking points on transitioning from a 501(c)(4) to a 501(c)(3) and the positives for this change. Our members in attendance passed a motion to update our articles of incorporation and bylaws to make this change. For our local League, this transition will make it easier for the Board to receive money from our Education Fund at the Humboldt Area Foundation, make member dues and contributions tax-deductible, and possibly increase contributions.

We were joined by two young, newer voters, Gino Gonzalez and Olivia Lane. Gino was born and raised in Humboldt County and graduated from McKinleyville High School in 2023. Recently, he graduated from UC Berkeley with a B.A. in Psychology. Fun fact: Gino is also Julie Kelly's nephew and was Anne Hartline's student in 6th grade. Olivia was also born and raised in Humboldt County and graduated from McKinleyville High School in 2026. She is currently a student at Cal Poly Humboldt, majoring in Psychology. Both Gino and Olivia shared their experiences with registering and voting, as well as insights into ways that LWVHC can encourage younger people to register and to vote.

The League of Women Voters of Humboldt County is here to support understanding the issues, listening to our neighbors, and participating in our democracy to strengthen Humboldt County. Together, we can build a county where every person has the opportunity to participate, and every voice helps shape our shared future.

A HUGE thank you to everyone for helping put the Membership Brunch together! From securing the venue to setting up and taking down, it takes our village of League Members to accomplish this so successfully!

ACCESS Humboldt

by Janet Foos

Access Humboldt Representative

Coming up on Friday, October 16th is BOLDfest – your chance to see a variety of short films that were created right here – using training from Access Humboldt. The event takes place at the Eureka Theater on F Street, with doors opening at 6 pm. Fees are modest, and you can purchase a ticket at www.accesshumboldt.net. When you see BOLDfest, there is a price for both entry to the theater, and also for the after party at the Inn at 2nd and C. You can choose to only go to see the films, or participate in all the fun. It would be fantastic to fill the theater – so encourage everyone you know to attend and support this worthy cause.

Molly Cate has written an excellent article below. I encourage you to read on about this excellent resource in Humboldt County.

ACCESS HUMBOLDT AT 20

by Molly Cate

For two decades, Access Humboldt has served as a bastion of democracy, freedom of expression, inclusion, and equity, a place where our nation's Bill of Rights comes to life. During the cable TV boom, the US Congress passed the Cable Act of 1984 to set aside several cable channels for public use, educational content, and access to governmental meetings. Dubbed PEG for short, these media hubs were initially funded by a miniscule percentage of corporate cable TV revenues. Now, these funds are drying up as viewers switch to internet streaming services (which also use public 'airways' but do not contribute to public access media centers). Access Humboldt is finding new revenue sources while continuing to provide the crucial watchdog function of broadcasting the council meetings of our seven cities and of three Joint Powers Authorities. On its TV and streaming channels, Access Humboldt also offers a video platform for the points of view of all local voices, and the staff will teach anyone how to use the technology to share theirs. We've aired student films, cultural performances, free speech content, and nonprofit storytelling.

In August, Access Humboldt, with the help of the Humboldt Area Foundation and the Redwood Region Economic Development Commission (RREDC), purchased the former Poletski's building at 341 Harris Street in Eureka. It is being transformed into a 21st century Digital Media Arts & Technology Center. This new facility includes:

- TV studios
- Radio and podcasting suites
- A digital media arts gallery
- A community gathering space
- A museum of media technology
- Workforce training labs for youth, seniors, veterans, and adults reentering the workforce.

Access Humboldt has instituted an innovative, community-minded fundraising model: celebrations throughout the year providing a rising financial tide that raises all boats. In March, the collaboration with the League of Women Voters of Humboldt County for National Sunshine Week, celebrates the essential contributions of local journalists through the Ray of Sunshine Awards. In May, the Bold Day of Giving was held, the culmination of two months of trainings offered by Access Humboldt to up to fifty local nonprofits. We worked with 37 other local nonprofits this year. In the fall, there's BOLDtFest, a celebration of local content creators kicking off seven months of support for a winning group, led through steps toward making their own video or audio programming. This year's gala celebrates filmmakers on October 16 at the Eureka Theater.

Quietly serving this community for 20 years, We plan to BOLDLY serve Humboldt County for at least the next 20 years!

Board Member Profile

Welcome new Board Member: Laurel Dalsted

I was born and raised in Arcata, graduated from Arcata High School and then College of the Redwoods. I moved to San Diego to finish my Bachelor's degree in International Studies with an emphasis in Political Science at UC San Diego, and then remained in San Diego for the next 15 years.

I have spent my entire career (so far) in the nonprofit sector, working in fundraising and communications at GRID Alternatives, Helen Woodward Animal Center, and the International Rescue Committee. I joined the Humboldt Area Foundation in 2021 where I currently serve as Donor Relations & Development Director, and relocated with my family back to Humboldt at that time.

I am excited to serve our community as a LWVHC board member, and appreciate the opportunities to build relationships, deepen my knowledge of local issues, and help strengthen civic engagement in our region.

My husband Tyler and I have two daughters, and a cat Charlie. Outside of work I enjoy camping, hiking, gardening, cooking and music - and love how abundant opportunities for all of those are in our area!

LWVC: Water Spotlight submitted by Leslie Leach

California's Surface Water Development

<https://lwwncsd.org/docs.ashx?id=1762272>

Protecting the Public Trust: Mono Lake and Beyond

As made clear in the first article in the Water Spotlight series, California's Surface Water Development, struggle over water is part of California life. Many people and organizations have legal rights to water, and there is never enough to satisfy everyone. In the resulting conflicts, who stands for the interests of the public? Who protects the natural world? Part of the answer lies in an ancient legal principle known as the public trust doctrine. This article looks at important recent developments that have made this principle a more potent legal tool to protect our environment. This story begins with Mono Lake. In the 1970's, this beautiful and biologically diverse saline lake on the east side of the Sierras was in desperate trouble. The Los Angeles Department of Water and Power (LADWP) had just installed a new aqueduct to carry water from the streams and creeks that fed the lake to the southern metropolis. Lake levels sank, the water grew saltier, nesting birds were no longer protected from predators. The ecosystem was near collapse. The California State Water Resources Control Board (Water Board) said it could do nothing to stop the flow down the aqueduct because Los Angeles had water rights. Your VOTER SERVICE UPDATE by Anne Hartline, LWVHC Voter Service Chair

By the time you receive this edition of the VOTER, Voter Service will be in full swing for the upcoming November 3 election. First, a big thanks to Byrd Lochtie, Suzanne McClurkin-Nelson, and Doug Umland, for being available to register voters at the Home Away From Home Community Potluck for college students on Sunday, September 13. Their friendly smiles encouraged students to come up and talk, get one of our fabulous stickers if they were already registered to vote, and potentially register to vote. Over 120 college students attended the event, and it was so wonderful have Leaguers on hand to help welcome them to our community. One of the non-student community members in attendance also expressed gratitude that the League was there. Yay!

Candidate forums coming up in October:

- Tuesday, October 6: Arcata City Council Candidate Forum 7-8pm
- Tuesday, October 13: Eureka Mayor Candidate Forum 7-8pm
- Thursday, October 15: Eureka City Council, Wards 1, 3, and 5 Candidate Forum 7-8:30pm

All KEET-TV Forums are held live and recorded
Recordings available on Access Humboldt and YouTube.

In the November VOTER, I'll have lots of kudos for all our hard-working volunteers making this happen!!!

Intrepid Women: A Celebration of the 19th Amendment and of Many Great Women by Leslie Leach

On a sunny August 26, League members and others gathered at the gazebo in Old Town, Eureka, and enjoyed hearing about women known for their achievements that benefited so many others.

Molly Cate began the event by acknowledging our debt and gratitude to the Wiyot tribe. She then explained the significance of the event: "We meet today on Women's Equality Day, commemorating the 1920 adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment to the US Constitution granting women (on paper) the right to vote, though Indigenous women and men were not even granted US citizenship until 1924 while they and other women and men of color have continually faced many kinds of harm in attempting to vote.

Several of the women here to read today suggested this event in an OLLI (Osher Lifelong Learning Institute) course I taught last fall called "Intrepid Women." They are joined by several women from the LWVHC to present to you brief sketches on courageous women of many time periods, cultures, ethnicities, and fields of endeavor who have braved disapproval and disdain as they changed our world for the better.

Many sources were used to create these mini biographies. Reliable ones we recommend to you are as follows: online access to the Smithsonian American Women's History Museum, the National Women's Hall of Fame, the National Park Service, BlackPast, the Encyclopedia Britannica, and reputable journals and books. We thank Byrd Lochtie, Janine Shayne, Terry Knowsky, Molly Cate, Marla Sklover, and Anne Hartline, for their preparation and contributions to this event.

LWVHC End of 2025 – 2026 Fiscal Year Financial Report

Dear Members,

It is my pleasure to serve as your Treasurer. If you have any questions regarding league's finances or budget, please don't hesitate to reach out to me at teresa.coffman@verizon.net.

A special thanks to the Budget Committee and Board Members who worked to craft this fiscal year's budget. We will be meeting later in the fall to review and revise the budget as needed. I would like to specifically recognize the following individuals for their valuable participation: Becky Simpson, Janet Foos, Judy Bennett, Cindy Humphry, Kathy Johanson, and Tracy Jordan French.

This year's budget is ambitious, and we encourage all members to get involved and support our shared mission. Please remember that the budget is a working document and may be adjusted by the Board as needed in the coming months.

Respectfully,
Tess Coffman
